
My Academic Journey at VIT

By Anjini Pandey | Oct 08, 2025

Surviving the first few semesters of Computer Science Engineering has been a whirlwind. From struggling with the logic of T-Flip-Flops to finally understanding AVL Tree rotations, here is how I balance the chaos of labs and theory classes.

Read More →

Mastering the G Major Chord

About Anjini

CSE Student @ VIT

Hi, I'm Anjini Pandey. I talk about code, music, and everything in between.

Search

Search...

Categories

- Academic Journey
- Music & Guitar
- Photography

cleaner. I've been practicing the transition from D Minor to G Major for two weeks now. Music is my escape from coding errors. Here is my daily practice routine.

Read More →

The Art of Analog Photography

By Anjini Pandey | Jan 05, 2026

In a digital world, there is something magical about film. I recently picked up a vintage camera and started documenting street life. Developing the film requires patience, much like debugging code, but the results are worth it.

Read More →

© 2026 Anjini Pandey